Part 6 of 8

1988

It is Germany 1988. The Cold War rages on. Agent Thompson and Claude have tracked a female KGB Special Operative with unknown abilities to a safe house in East Berlin.

The mission, according to Thompson, is to turn her to their side. But just as the Agents appear to gain the upper hand, Claude realizes the mission is something else entirely, but what? Before he can get any answers, The Woman seemingly disappears right in front of them!

What are they really doing here? Where did she go? And will Claude find out why Thompson lied to them about what the mission really is?
